Joseph Weinberg, MD

Residency: General Surgery - Nassau University Medical Center – NY

Medical School: Technion American Medical School

I am originally from Baltimore, Maryland. I graduated medical school at the Technion American Medical School in Israel. I then completed my residency at Nassau University Medical Center in Long Island. In my chief year I was the teaching resident of the year. I am interested in trauma and critical care and how artificial intelligence will augment our care in the future. I choose HonorHealth for its commitment to excellence in trauma and critical care. When I am not working, I enjoy rock climbing, biking, and running.
