

HonorHealth Orthopedic Residents 2019-2020

Jordan McCann PT, DPT

Jordan McCann is originally from Michigan. He graduated from Michigan State University (Go Green!) before moving to Arizona to attend Midwestern University to earn his Doctorate in Physical Therapy. Jordan enjoys all things sports, especially golf and football. He also prefers to spend my time outside either at the pool or taking his dog on hikes.

Matthew Harriman PT, DPT

Matthew was born and raised in the beautiful state of Tennessee. He graduated from Mississippi State University in 2014 with a bachelor's degree in Psychology (Hail State). He decided to follow his future wife Callie to Arizona where he earned his Doctorate of Physical Therapy at Midwestern University in 2019. After graduation, Matthew spent his last summer vacation playing with his dog Riley and fishing in Arkansas before accepting a position in HonorHealth's orthopedic residency program. Matthew is a member of the American Physical Therapy Association and its orthopedic subgroup. He is an avid sports fan and enjoys racing in triathlons. He decided to pursue residency training in order to grow as a clinician and improve his patient outcomes. Matthew is eager to learn from HonorHealth's faculty members and their expansive knowledge base.
