

SURGICAL CRITICAL CARE FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

Class of 2022 - Inaugural Fellow

Christopher Mellon, DO

Residency: General Surgery - Creighton College of Medicine Phoenix

Dr. Christopher Mellon is a Phoenix native. Dr. Mellon graduated medical school from Midwestern University. Dr. Mellon completed his residency at Creighton College of Medicine Phoenix, where he was the Richard R. George Intern of the Year and won the Academic Excellence in Residency Award. Dr. Mellon completed the Kenneth A. Suarez Research Fellowship in the lab of C. George Carlson, Ph.D., investigating the pathophysiology of muscular dystrophy, as well as myostatin inhibitors as pharmacological interventions.

Dr. Mellon's scholarly work is comprised of 3 publications, 6 poster presentations and 2 oral presentations. In addition, Dr. Mellon has served in both academic leadership and teaching during medical school and residency training. Dr. Mellon belongs to Sigma Sigma Phi Honors Society and American College of Surgeons. When Dr. Mellon is not working, he enjoys cooking, live music, and Arizona sports.